

Document Delivery & Resource Sharing Section 2019-2023 candidates' profiles

Name	Title	Institution	Country	Brief summary
Andrew Appleyard	Head of Operations	The British Library	United Kingdom	I am Head of Operations at the British Library which includes responsibility for the Document Supply service. This service has for many years been one of the largest suppliers of research content for remote users internationally. Currently the BL is exploring how the service may transition into something more in tune with modern day, digital research under the auspices of the Everything Available project. My aim is to work with other international providers to develop something that's sustainable, fit-for-purpose and beneficial to providers and users alike.
Tina Baich	Associate Dean for Collections	IUPUI University Library	United States	Before my appointment in July 2018 as Associate Dean for Collections, I served as head of resource sharing at IUPUI University Library for 12 years. I was responsible for the management of interlibrary loan and the development of additional resource sharing services, including a document delivery service and an articles on demand service, as well as the implementation of new resource sharing technology. My research interests include web-based interlibrary loan finding aids, the impact of open access on interlibrary loan, and international interlibrary loan. I have presented on these topics at state, regional, national and international conferences. I participate in resource sharing committees and initiatives at the state, regional, and national levels and served as the 2014/2015 Chair of ALA RUSA STARS, the American Library Association's section devoted to resource sharing issues. In recognition of my service and research in resource sharing, I was named the 2016 Virginia Boucher-OCLC Distinguished Interlibrary Loan Librarian.

---

Filiz Ekingen Flores Mamondi	Librarian	Boğaziçi University	Turkey	I am a graduate of Istanbul University and I hold a B.A. and M.A. in Librarianship I have been working at Boğaziçi University Library since 1993. Boğaziçi University is in Istanbul, Turkey and is one of the leading universities in the country At Boğaziçi University Library, I work as a Interlending and Document Supply librarian and am also responsible for the development of the training program. The library is keen to follow any developments in the libraries worldwide and has been using the interlibrary loan services since 1995. My aim to join Document Delivery and Resource Sharing Section committee is to share first hand professional experiences with my colleagues in abroad extend and improve document delivery and inter-lending both nationally and internationally through the use of new technologies. I believe The Document Delivery and Resource Sharing section will give me the opportunity to enlarge and update my knowledge and skills as a librarian and I will be able to gain insights to many developments in librarianship.
------------------------------	-----------	---------------------	--------	---

---

Joseph Hamilton	Librarian	Library of Congress	United States	I have been a librarian for 13 years and have worked in various capacities of document delivery and resource sharing. Currently I am the interlibrary loan librarian at the Library of Congress. We are known as the library of last resort and I personally take that to mean that we strive to make sure we are the best at finding hard to locate material regardless of bad citations or other obstacles. I have a particular interest in expanding access to information in areas which are information poor. I believe that libraries can play a pivotal role in somewhat leveling the playing field in the global world of scholarship.
-----------------	-----------	---------------------	---------------	--

---

---

Stephanie Krueger	Head, Office for Specialized Academic Services	National Library of Technology in Prague	Czechia	I have been engaged in the scholarly communications/resources field since 2001 and have become more keenly interested in how scholars find and use information in many fields over the past five years, first in the context of original research with scientists conducted for my doctoral dissertation in Information Science and more recently as an active partner to several STEM research groups. I believe I bring a unique perspective to the DDRS committee as well as an eagerness to contribute to it in an original manner.
Joe Lenkart	International Reference Librarian	University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign	United States	I manage the Slavic Reference Service. This service works with ILL units to resolve complex foreign language interlibrary loan requests by providing free bibliographic assistance (year-round). I look forward to working with the committee to improve international resource sharing.

---